Pope's Message

Dear brothers and sisters!

1. The prayer of the poor rises up to God (cf. Sir 21:5). In this year dedicated to prayer in anticipation of the Ordinary Jubilee of 2025, this expression of biblical wisdom is most fitting as we prepare for the Eighth World Day of the Poor, which will be observed on 17 November. Indeed, Christian hope embraces the certainty that our prayer reaches God's presence; not just any prayer but rather the prayer of the poor! Let us reflect on this word and "read" it on the faces and in the stories of the poor whom we encounter daily, so that prayer can become a path of communion with them and a sharing in their suffering.

2. The Book of Sirach, of which we are speaking, is not sufficiently known, yet it deserves to be discovered for the richness of its themes, especially regarding the relationship of humanity with God and with the world. Its author, Ben Sira, was a teacher, a scribe in Jerusalem, likely writing in the 2nd century B.C. He was a wise man, deeply rooted in Israel's tradition, who taught on various aspects of human life: work, family, social life and the education of the young. He paid special attention to themes related to faith in God and observance of the Law. He tackled the difficult issues of freedom, evil and divine justice, which are still highly relevant to us today. Inspired by the Holy Spirit, Ben Sira sought to point out to everyone the path to follow in order to live a wise and dignified life in the eyes of God and our brothers and sisters.

3. One of the themes to which this sacred author devotes significant attention is prayer. He does so with great fervour because he gives voice to his personal experience. Indeed, no writing on prayer can be effective and fruitful if it does not stem from someone who stands daily in God's presence and listens to his Word. Ben Sira declares that he sought wisdom from his youth: "While I was still young, before I went on my travels, I sought wisdom openly in my prayer" (Sir 51:13).

4. On this journey, he discovered one of the fundamental truths of revelation, namely, that the poor hold a privileged place in God's heart, to the point that, in the face of their suffering, God is "impatient" until he has rendered justice to them. "The prayer of the humble pierces the clouds, and he will not be consoled until it reaches the Lord; he will not desist until the Most High visits him, and does justice for the righteous, and executes judgment. And the Lord will not delay" (Sir 35:17-18). God knows the sufferings of his children because he is an attentive and caring father. As a father, he takes care of those who are most in need: the poor, the marginalized, the suffering and the forgotten. No one is excluded from his heart, for in his eyes, we are all poor and needy. We are all beggars because, without God, we would be nothing. We would not even have life if God had not given it to us. Yet how often we live as if we were the masters of life or as if we had to conquer it! The mentality of the world demands that we become somebody, that we make a name for ourselves at any cost, breaking social norms in order to accumulate wealth. How sad of an illusion this is! Happiness cannot be acquired by trampling on the rights and dignity of others.

The violence caused by wars clearly shows the arrogance of those who consider themselves to be powerful before men and women, but they are poor in the eyes of God. How many more people are impoverished by misguided policies involving weapons! How many innocent victims! Yet we cannot turn our backs to this reality. The disciples of the Lord know that each of these “little ones” bears the image of the Son of God and each one must receive our support and expressions of Christian charity. “Each individual Christian and every community is called to be an instrument of God for the liberation and promotion of the poor, and for enabling them to be fully a part of society. This demands that we be docile and attentive to the cry of the poor and to come to their aid” (Evangelii Gaudium, 187).

5. In this year dedicated to prayer, we need to make the prayer of the poor our own and pray together with them. This is a challenge we must embrace and a pastoral activity that needs to be nurtured. Moreover, “the worst discrimination which the poor suffer is the lack of spiritual care. The great majority of the poor have a special openness to the faith; they need God and we must not fail to offer them his friendship, his blessing, his word, the celebration of the sacraments and a journey of growth and maturity in the faith. Our preferential option for the poor must mainly translate into a privileged and preferential religious care” (ibid., 200).

All of this requires a humble heart, one that has the courage to become a beggar. A heart that is ready to acknowledge itself as poor and needy. Indeed, there is a correlation between poverty, humility and trust. The truly poor person is the humble one, as the holy Bishop Augustine said: “The poor have nothing to be proud of, the rich must combat their pride. Therefore, listen to me: be truly poor, be virtuous, be humble” (Sermons, 14, 4). The humble have nothing to boast of and nothing to claim; they know they cannot rely on themselves but firmly believe they can appeal to God's merciful love, standing before him like the prodigal son who returns home repentant to receive the father's embrace (cf. Lk 15:11-24). The poor, having nothing to rely on, receive strength from God and place all their trust in him. Indeed, humility generates trust that God will never abandon us and will never leave us without a response.

6. To the poor who dwell in our cities and are part of our communities, I say: do not lose this certainty! God is attentive to each of you and is close to you. He does not forget you nor could he ever do so. We all have had the experience of prayers that seem to remain unanswered. Sometimes we ask to be freed from a misery that makes us suffer and humiliates us, and God seems not to hear our cry. However, God's silence does not mean he is inattentive to our sufferings; rather, it contains a word that must be received with trust, surrendering ourselves to him and to his will. Sirach again attests to this: the Lord's judgment will be in favour of the poor (cf. Sir 21:5). From poverty, therefore, the song of the most genuine hope can spring up. Let us remember that "whenever our interior life becomes caught up in its own interests and concerns, there is no longer room for others, no place for the poor. God's voice is no longer heard, the quiet joy of his love is no longer felt, and the desire to do good fades" (EvangeliiGaudium, 2).

7. The World Day of the Poor has now become a fixture for every ecclesial community. It is a pastoral opportunity not to be underestimated, for it challenges every believer to listen to the prayer of the poor, becoming aware of their presence and needs. It is an opportune occasion to implement initiatives that concretely help the poor and to recognize and support the many volunteers who dedicate themselves passionately to those most in need. We must thank the Lord for the people who make themselves available to listen to and support the poorest among us. They are priests, consecrated persons, lay men and women who, by their testimony, give voice to God's response to the prayer of those who turn to him. This silence, therefore, is broken every time a person in need is welcomed and embraced. The poor still have much to teach us because in a culture that has placed wealth at the forefront and often sacrifices the dignity of people on the altar of material goods, they swim against the tide, highlighting that what is essential for life is something else entirely.

Prayer, then, is verified by authentic charity that manifests itself as encounter and proximity. If prayer does not translate into concrete action, it is in vain; indeed, "faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead" (Jas 2:17). However, charity without prayer risks becoming philanthropy that soon exhausts itself. "Without daily prayer lived with fidelity, our acts are empty, they lose their profound soul, and are reduced to being mere activism" (BENEDICT XVI, Catechesis, April 25, 2012). We must avoid this temptation and always be vigilant with the strength and perseverance that comes from the Holy Spirit, who is the giver of life.

8. In this context, it is beautiful to recall the testimony left to us by Mother Teresa of Calcutta, a woman who gave her life for the poor. Saint Teresa continually repeated that it was from prayer that she drew the strength and faith for her mission of service to the least among us. When she spoke at the General Assembly of the UN on October 26, 1985, showing everyone the rosary she always held in her hand, she said: "I am only a poor sister who prays. By praying, Jesus puts his love in my heart, and I go to give it to all the poor I meet along the way. Pray too! Pray, and you will notice the poor who are beside you. Perhaps on the same floor in your apartment building. Perhaps even in your houses, someone is waiting for your love. Pray, and your eyes will open, and your heart will fill with love".

How can we not recall here in the city of Rome, Saint Benedict Joseph Labre (1748-1783), whose body rests and is venerated in the parish church of Santa Maria ai Monti. A pilgrim from France to Rome, rejected by many monasteries, he spent the last years of his life poor among the poor, spending hours in prayer before the Blessed Sacrament, with the rosary, reciting the breviary, reading the New Testament and the Imitation of Christ. Having no place to stay, he usually slept in a corner of the ruins of the Colosseum like a "vagabond of God," making his life a ceaseless prayer that rose up to God.

9. As we journey towards the Holy Year, I urge everyone to become pilgrims of hope, setting tangible goals for a better future. Let us not forget to keep "the little details of love" (Gaudete et Exsultate, 145): stopping, drawing near, giving a little attention, a smile, a caress, a word of comfort. These gestures are not automatic; they require a daily commitment and are often hidden and silent, but strengthened by prayer. In this time, when the song of hope seems to give way to the clamour of arms, to the cry of many innocent wounded, and the silence of the countless victims of wars, we turn to God with our plea for peace. We stretch out our hands to receive peace as a precious gift for we are "poor" in this regard, while at the same time committing ourselves to weave it back into daily life.

10. We are called in every circumstance to be friends of the poor, following in the footsteps of Jesus who always began by showing solidarity when dealing with the least among us. May the Mother of God, Mary Most Holy, who appeared at Banneux and left a message not to be forgotten: "I am the Virgin of the poor," sustain us on this journey. To Mary, whom God has looked upon with favour for her humble poverty, accomplishing great things through her obedience, we entrust our prayers, convinced that they will rise to heaven and be heard.

Bishop's Message

Dear Rev. Fathers, Religious and People of God,

On the 1st of November, we will be celebrating the feast of All Saints. I wish you all a very Happy Feast of All Saints. On this joyous day, the Church commemorates all the saints, known and unknown, canonised or not-canonised and doing so, we honour the Holy Spirit who perfected them and made them great. All these saints have to be our role models. In addition to this, the celebration should revive in us the desire for our sanctification and the hope of heaven where our holy brethren await us.

Having honoured the triumphant Church in heaven on November 1st, the Church on earth honours the members of the Church suffering in purgatory on November 2nd, thus demonstrating the supernatural bond of communion of saints. The Church teaches us that the souls in purgatory are helped by our daily prayers, by our charitable actions and offering of Holy Masses. We learn from the history that praying for the departed souls, giving alms in their names and offering masses had already existed and it is seen in the Book of Maccabees. The souls in purgatory, being unable to help themselves, depend on the prayers of the pilgrim church for their redemption. Offering of our prayers and sacrifices for the departed souls, do not leave them forgotten or abandoned. It brings benefits to ourselves too, because it helps us to change our lives, to avoid sin and to prepare ourselves for a good and holy death. One day we, too, shall pass out of this world, to join them; and we, too, might need help. Let us be generous in helping them through our prayers and sacrifices, for what is given to them will come back to us a hundredfold reward. The day will come when we and they will stand together in the heavenly court, beholding the face of God, in the glorious company of the angels and saints, and join in their unending hymn of praise.

Please instruct your parishioners to offer masses, do charity in the name of the departed souls, request them to visit the cemeteries during this month. It is our duty and obligation to pray for our deceased bishops, priests and religious who did their ministry in our diocese.

Yours devotedly in Christ

Joyful Gathering of Religious at the Basilica of Our Lady of Holy Rosary

On October 5th, during the Month of the Rosary, a joyful and grace-filled day dawned at the Basilica of Our Lady of Holy Rosary in Karumathampatti, Coimbatore. The men and women religious from 42 congregations serving in the Coimbatore Diocese gathered with excitement to greet one another in the sacred space.

The highlight of the day was a solemn pontifical high Mass, celebrated by His Lordship, Dr. Thomas Aquinas, Bishop of Coimbatore. Each congregation joyfully participated in the Eucharistic celebration, bringing with them inspiring symbols of their unique charisms, which were carried in procession. In his homily, Bishop Aquinas expressed deep gratitude to the religious for their dedicated service to the people of God within the Diocese. The Mass was offered for the intentions of each congregation, uniting them in prayer and fellowship.

Rev. Fr. Gerald S.J. delivered an inspiring sermon, urging the religious to renew and refresh their consecrated lives. He reminded them of the grace they have received from God, encouraging them to nurture and safeguard it as they continue their mission to serve others. Fr. Gerald's words called the religious to focus on the goal of their vocation and to persevere in their commitment to the Gospel.

The heavenly atmosphere of the celebration was enriched by the beautiful singing of the Presentation Sisters, whose melodious voices lifted everyone's heart in praise and thanksgiving to God. The sense of unity and belonging to the one family of God was palpable, and the joy of their vocation was celebrated with great fervor.

At the conclusion of the Mass, Bishop Aquinas blessed all present, showering them with God's grace and protection. The day was made even more memorable by the warm hospitality and refreshments provided by the parish team, for which the religious expressed their deep gratitude.

A special thanks was extended to Rev. Fr. Christopher CSsR, President of the CRI - Coimbatore Unit, who encouraged the religious to take part in this joyful occasion. As the gathering dispersed, hearts were filled with blessings, graces, and happiness, leaving everyone renewed in their mission and united in their shared vocation.

Dear Fathers and Sisters,

Developmental Intervention Program

From September 23 to September 25, we attended a Developmental Intervention Program (DIP). The first day of the DIP was held at CMSSS. Using the theme "shakers and shapers," Mr. John Wesley gave deacons a two-hour seminar on this particular day. A course on wildlife, conservation, and preservation of animals, forests, and human manners was taken by Mr. Mohana Prasad later that day. Mrs. Elizabeth gave a talk about the lives of women at the evening session. She discussed how their social service organization had contributed to the Widows development process. The deacons were provided clarification on their reservations about women's empowerment in society.

The deacons visited Senrayampalayam, Vadachithur, and Kinathukaduvu on September 24. Deacons headed for a field, to learn about the realities of those who live in various settings and circumstances on a daily basis. The deacons took a field trip to these locations. On that particular day, they ran into women's self-help groups in Kinathu Kadavu. Later, they spoke with the Panchayat president. They were informed about interactions between individuals with NGOs as well as the role NGOs play in the field. They went to meet the gypsy people, also known as narikuravars, late in the day. The deacons were assisted in learning about the day-to-day activities and nature of work of gypsies by the field coordinator. Their living quarters, their kids, and the difficulties they encounter on a daily basis were also displayed to them. All day long, they interacted with individuals.

They had another class on law and its social ramifications on the third day. It was taken by Sr. Jacqueline. They attended a class with Mr. Daniel later that day, and he gave a lecture on the preservation and conservation of spiders as wildlife. They also had numerous questions answered by a resource person. An outline of NGOs and the several domains associated with them was provided to the deacons. An assessment of the three days of instruction marked its conclusion. I would like to thank the coordinators, the deacons, and the non-teaching staff for their cordial cooperation to make this course successful,

At the Mother Teresa Animation Center, we held a district-level Aser meeting with 35 people from October 16 to 18. This project is about a survey of education. For five days, our field coordinator, Mrs. Jayanthi, was in Salem for the state-level conference. There were thirty-two participants in the three-day workshop that she and another resource person administered. On one day, volunteers participated in a full-day input session, and on the following day, Solavampalayam and Kinathukaduvu hosted a model survey. The volunteers were aware of the job routine and took part. For the third day input session, the volunteers returned to CMSSS. Up until the first week of November, this endeavor will continue. Throughout the session, the participants were watched over and led by the external resource persons. In order to keep an eye on the field operations, they accompanied our volunteers. Thirty villages in five districts will be the sites of the survey, which will be compiled and delivered to the Aser team in the middle of November. I express my gratitude to the coordinators and the crew for their tireless efforts in completing this work. I express my gratitude to Mrs. Jayanthi and all of the field coordinators for assigning the members to their appropriate regions.

Commission for Migrants

Our bishop, His Excellency, Thomas Aquinas presided over the gathering we held for the migrants at Bhavani Sagar on September 26. We celebrated a high mass alongside the congregants of Infant Jesus Church, located within the premises of Bhavanisagar Camp. The sermon's theme was "God walks with His people," delivered by Fr. Jesudoss. A brief open discussion between the bishop and the parishioners took place following the mass. His Excellency helped and inspired the individuals they encounter in their day-to-day problems and daily lives. I have to express my gratitude to Fr. Innasimuthu for his kind acceptance and courteous coordination of the mass and the rest. I express my gratitude to Fr. Gladwin and the parish planners for their collaborative efforts in organizing this wonderful event.

Coimbatore Diocese Health Commission (CDHC)

When visiting Bhavani Sagar's Infant Jesus Church, at the liturgy for migrants on September 26, our bishop, His Excellency, Thomas Aquinas presented the theme of the TNBC and unveiled the logo for the Coimbatore Diocese Health Commission. Every clinic, hospital, health center, and dispensary will receive a copy of the year's theme. Over the course of a year, it will be on public exhibit. St Ann's Hospital in Pallapalayam presented an exhibit of the subject as a follow-up to this program.

DRUG AWARENESS PROGRAM

We held a drug awareness program at Ravel Matriculation School in Seerapalayam on October 8. The program was attended by about fifty students. It was an hour-long program. The negative impacts of drugs were discussed with the students.

Additionally, they received instructions on how to recognize strangers and how to get out of dangerous situations. It was recommended that students learn about the harmful effects of drugs through the use of PPT, graphics, and IEC materials. The pupils were given time to voice their questions at the conclusion of the lesson. Examples were provided to allay their doubts. If the pupils are already involved in drug-related concerns, they were encouraged to shift their attention. Additionally, the kids were urged to focus on their studies and use their gifts for the benefit of society. In addition, the students were urged to maintain friendly ties with both the principal and the teachers regarding any concern that has been impeding their academic progress. I am appreciative of Sr. Noel's support, the principal's care for the pupils, and the staff's efforts.

At Bishop Francis School in N.G.G.O. Colony, we held an awareness activity on October 8. The personnel and students were scheduled for an hour-long event. About three hundred pupils participated in the program. The pupils received instruction on the effects and side effects of the medications. The issue was presented in an understandable manner using the PPT and IEC resources. Students were taught about the different types of drugs and the intricate problems that arise from drug use. The pupils were made aware of the strangers who approach us both inside and outside the school. Motivation to stay focused on their studies was also imparted to the students. They received encouragement to study and accomplish their objectives. The strategies to address their learning challenges were imparted to them. Additionally, there was time allotted for the students to ask questions and get their questions about drug-related matters answered. I express my gratitude to Sr. Casmir Maria, the principal who coordinated and provided assistance for the program. I also like to thank the staff members that oversaw the students.

INPUT SESSION FOR COUPLES

We conducted a seminar session with married couples in Cheran Maanagar on October 20th. About seventy persons took part in this workshop and gained something from it. The impact on childhood and the behavioral patterns of youngsters were the topics of the lecture. The session provided parents with an outline to help them comprehend their child's behavior in the home and at school, as well as their mental health. Examples were provided to illustrate the child's relationships with their parents, teachers, friends, and mother. The participants asked questions after the seminar, and those questions were answered. The attendees of the seminar were drawn from a variety of backgrounds. The lecture assisted the parents in considering their children's mental health and future. The program was painstakingly planned by Fr. Andrew, for which I had to thank him. I would like to express my gratitude to the parish's volunteers and well-wishers who made the seminar a success.

MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAM FOR YOUTH:

We conducted another session with the youth of Cheran Maanagar on October 20th. In addition to discussing God's grace, they also discussed career counsel and motivation. Twenty youth participated in this session led by resource person Sr. Sheeba, at the church's grotto. The session was one of interaction. This session was advantageous to the parish's youth. My sincere gratitude goes out to Fr. Andrew, who organized and led the gathering of the youth. My gratitude goes to the children who took part in this session as well as to Sister Sheeba, who accompanied the children that day for their welfare.

KOLPING

At Jothipuram, there was a get-together with the Kolping family on October 8. There were about eighteen people present at the gathering. After reviewing the notes and cash books, the director suggested that they make clear rules for the agenda book. The parish's new group was inspired to be formed by its members. The director addressed their questions and provided clarification. The Kolping family was made aware of Kolping Day and encouraged to take part in the festivities. I express my gratitude to Fr. Victor, the parish priest, and the coordinators for their support of the Kolping family. In forty minutes, the meeting came to an end.

The Rosa Mystica Kolping family and the Lopu Annai Kolping family were met in Sowripalayam on October 9th by the director and the Kolping Coordinator. The gathering began with prayer, after which it was addressed how the group operated and the rules that needed to be followed to keep things going well. The members were also briefed on the agenda book, cash book, monthly and annual subscriptions, loan repayment plans, and execution. The participants were communicated about the impending Kolping Day celebration. Members voiced their concerns over internal and external debts. The director allayed their concerns and gave them guidelines to follow for the group to succeed. They promised to follow in the upcoming months once they gave their acceptance. From the groups, the new business owners were identified. I express my gratitude to the group coordinators and to Fr. Maria Joseph, the parish priest, who lends support to them

On October 13, at Annai Velankanni church in Palladam, we held a new group formation. First and foremost, we celebrated Sunday mass for the youth, during which they participated in the eucharistic celebration liturgy. Following the mass, we held a meeting with the youth, during which the youth of the parish were introduced to the program. Approximately sixty young people took part in the program. They were informed about the history and operational design of the Kolping, as well as the requirements for forming a new group. The youth also addressed questions they had about Kolping and its structure. The youth were inspired to begin saving money that will be useful for their future. I would like to express my gratitude to Palladam parish priest Fr. Gnanapragasam for organizing and starting this fruitful youth program.
